About the Wheat Ridge Historical Park

Owned by the City of Wheat Ridge, the Historical Park is devoted to depicting the original Baugh homestead from 1859 to 1889. A path in the tall prairie grass gives visitors a small sample of the arduous and often deadly passage settlers had to undergo to cross mile upon mile of prairie to reach their destination.

Some areas of the park have been cleared for crops and orchards. Seasonal demonstrations in plowing, planting, and harvesting take place in these areas and provide a rich living history learning experience. Other period activities that are performed include animal husbandry, log hewing, apple cider pressing, and cooking.

The museum at the Historical Park is operated by the Wheat Ridge Historical Society. It is open for tours Fridays from 10 am to 3 pm. For information, please call (303) 421-9111.
